County Editorial Association Holds Meeting.

MOUNTAIN VIEW, March 1.—The event of yesterday in Mountain View was the meeting of the Santa Clara County Editorial Association. It was well attended, fourteen out of the seventeen papers of the county being represented and most of them doubly represented, nearly all the editors being accompanied by their help-meets. The editor of the Santa Clara Journal, Miss B. Downing, not yet having taken to herself a help-meet, or not having been taken by a help-meet (you may be sure the fault is all her own), was accompanied by a lady friend. It was a well dressed company, a good looking company (especially the female part), an intelligent company (of course) and a good natured company.

The business meeting was held in the I. O. O. F. hall from 12 to 1 o'clock. The following were chosen as the officers of the association for another year: President, P. M. Smith of Mountain View Leader; vice president, Will Blake of the Gilroy Advocate; secretary, Miss B. Downing of the Santa Clara Journal; treasurer, W. B. Trantham of the Los Gatos News.

At 1 o'clock a luncheon was served at the Hotel Soares. P. M. Smith was master of ceremonies. Few men know better how to preside on such occasions. There was not a dull moment during the nearly two hours spent at the table. Brother Smith had "programs" printed on a portion of the latest edition of the Leader, a copy of which was furnished to each of the thirty odd lunchers, as follows:

PROGRAM.

Hotel Soares, Mountain View, Calif.

Santa Clara County Editorial Association.

February 28, 1910.

Things to Eat.

Soup.
In soup plates with spoons.

Salad.
A strictly home product.

Pickles Olives.
By request, extra and things like that.

Fried Chicken and Brown Gravy.
Ah, la! Marianna!

Vegetables.
Mostly potatoes, mashed—real good.
Green Peas.
A plenty.

Apple Pie. Cheese.
This is mighty good pie.

Coffee. Tea. Water.
A la klean kounty.

Luncheon over, speeches were in order. Toastmaster Smith made a facetious speech (such as he only can make) of welcome. Judge B. E. Burns was then called on to turn over to the guests the keys of the city. He began by saying: "There is no need to turn over the keys. Our doors are never locked to as pleasant company as this—half of it charming. Our latch strings are now, and ever will be, on the outside to you." He said many nice things about the guests and of course threw a number of bouquets to Mountain View.

One after another of the editors was called on in turn, and each responded, some readily and some otherwise. All were happy in their remarks, and greatly pleased their hosts. Editor Smith said some had requested not to be called upon, preferring that their charming persons should speak for them.—San Jose Times.

For Men and Boys Only. Ladies Don't Read.

An eminent authority on sociology tells us that women are about a thousand years or more behind men in intellectual development and that virtue called common sense which accompanies civilization. Everything in a woman's make-up from the ruffles on her skirt to her elaborate coiffure and picture hat point to this fact. Man long ago discarded frills and ruffles, cut his hair, took the feathers out of his cap, and traded his "Mother Hubbard" for a pair of trousers and a plain shirt. It is only a matter of time till the ladies take a similar course and, in the words of the poet, "its up to us" to help it along.

On Friday night, March 18th, at the Methodist church there will be untrimmed hats of all kinds, sizes and shapes, and trimming in profusion with ice cream and cake to follow. Twenty-five cents will pay for a hat, trimming, necessary pins, etc., and a goodly share of ice cream and cake for two. There will be a promenade in which all men who trim hats and their partners will take part, and unbiased judges will award prizes to the trimmers of the most artistic hats in point of beauty, simplicity, and utility. To those who do not think they can trim a hat or who can eat more than one big dish of ice cream, refreshments will be served for ten cents. COME AND SHOW 'EM.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Last Thursday Prof. Smith went to Berkeley to lecture before the students of the Department of Education at the University. This is one of a series arranged by the University authorities that the students of education may view the educational situation as it appears to those who are actually in the work in the schools. That Prof. Smith was selected as one of the lecturers in this course is a clear indication of the high standing that he and the school have among those at the University whose business it is to know these facts.

On Friday considerable time was spent in the taking of pictures of interior and exterior views of the building, of the work of the classes, and of the various student organizations by a representative of the New York School Journal. This gentleman is getting material for a series of articles in regard to the schools of this region and of the State. The photographs are intended to illustrate the articles. He was at the school Tuesday making preliminary arrangements.

In the first game of the I. A. U. series of girls' basket ball, the Campbell team was beaten by the Mountain View team with a score of 13 to 21. Our girls are practicing with a determination to reverse the score at the next game which is expected to come off with the same team in about a week.

Many of the students are practicing with considerable zeal in preparation for the inter-class track meet, which will take place on the High School grounds on the afternoon of March 11, weather permitting.

The base ball team is out in full force practicing for the A. A. L. series of games, which begins on March 12 with a game with Mountain View. The team expects to meet such schools as Palo Alto, St. Matthews, Redwood City. There is no reason why they should not make a good record.

The Good Work of Our Commercial League.

The new Campbell Realty Company began its work last Tuesday. Back of this new organization are many of our prominent citizens, whose object is to encourage and assist town improvements and business enterprises. All the stock in the company that has been offered for sale has been taken quickly, and by local people. The officers for the ensuing year are President, R. K. Thomas; Vice-President, Geo. E. Hyde; Secretary, S. G. Rodeck; Manager, E. R. Kennedy.

The company will conduct all lines of business generally handled by such a concern, and will be especially active in promoting movements that will be for the general good of the town. Manager Kennedy's years of residence and experience in this community has enabled him to do an excellent business in the real estate line, and this new combination will be enabled to greatly increase the business. The company is now working to get the street car line extended down Campbell ave., and the prospects are good if the property owners and others who will profit by the line will assist in raising the money the S. P. Co. will ask.

A Delightful Reception.

A most delightful event in the history of the Congregational church was the reception given to Dr. T. O. Douglass of Iowa, and Rev. L. D. Rathbone, State secretary of the Congregational work in California. The church was tastefully decorated and a fine audience greeted the speakers. Dr. Douglass from a rich experience spoke of the National work of the church, of many of the great men and heroes it has given to the nation; while Secretary Rathbone brought a cheering optimistic report of the State work. Many who had known Dr. Douglass years ago in the East were present and a pleasant time was spent in renewing old friendships and forming new ones. After which all partook of a banquet prepared by the Woman's Guild. The Pastor acting as Toastmaster, Dr. C. M. Cooper spoke on the "Pet Bear," a thrilling incident in the heroic life of Father Windsor of Iowa, and Prof J. Fred Smith responded to the toast "Friends, New and Old."

For a Clean County

The issue of the Clean County Co-operation Council is clean cut and should be made plain to every voter of the county. Yet it effects not only every voter but every woman and child as well.

At the present time there are two hundred-seventeen saloons in Santa Clara county. San Jose has the proud distinction of supporting one-hundred-one of these places; Santa Clara nineteen, Gilroy sixteen, Mountain View seven, leaving in the unincorporated portions of the county but seventy-four.

It is the universally acknowledged fact that the road-house or country saloon is one of the most pernicious forms of the liquor traffic. It is at these places that so many "joy-rides" end disastrously.

Being without police surveillance little regard is paid to the laws governing this business, consequently these places are found open at all hours and are easy of access to the young and unwary.

It is the one purpose of this campaign to crystalize sentiment which will demand in no uncertain terms the closing of these seventy-four road-houses in Santa Clara county.

To that end petitions are being circulated throughout the county, and every voter will be given the privilege of signing, praying the supervisors to enact into law an ordinance the main features of which are as follows.

1. Sales or gifts of alcoholic liquors shall be unlawful. This shall not apply to sales under authorized licenses, on physicians' prescriptions or for Sacramental purposes, nor to sales of 10 gallons or over by manufacturers.

2. Licenses may be issued so long as the electors are willing.

3. The electors shall be presumed to be willing until one-fourth thereof petition otherwise; but upon the filing of such a petition, that presumption changes and licenses expire at end of the quarter.

4. The foregoing petition may be overruled by majority vote at an election to be held, upon petition by one-fourth of the electors. Such petition to be filed within 60 days of the other. The question once settled is closed for four years. Territory outside of municipal corporations only affected.

The sentiment, throughout the counties of our favored state, is steadily growing into a positive conviction that the saloon is an evil; that it results in a moral and economic waste to the community; and that it should have no place among a civilized people.

Many of the counties have driven it out, others are preparing to do so and Santa Clara should not and will not fail to take her place with those who have already entered the ranks on the right side.

The Fruit Prospects.

We are informed by the best authority that the fruit outlook for the coming season is excellent. It is so all over the county. The apricots and peaches are coming out very quickly. The prunes show a good, strong bud. The rainfall up to the present time is a little below the average. Although there was very little rain during the month of February, there is good moisture in the ground, very little having been lost through evaporation. If we have a few good showers later the fruit will not suffer.

Improvement Club.

It is hoped there will be a large representation of the business men of Campbell next Monday night, at 8 o'clock. J. H. Henry of the Rose Carnival Committee will be present and possibly Judge Richards and others of San Jose. These gentlemen will address the meeting in the interest of the carnival.

Charlie Lewis has suffered quite severely the past week from an injury received while at work at the Anisley Packing Co. He was hauling a truck into a car when the gang plank gave way and threw the weight of twenty-five 80-pound boxes onto a leg, cutting a very bad gash in the shin. With the aid of a crutch he is again able to be out.

PITHY RESUME OF EVENTS OF ENTIRE WORLD

Brief Paragraphs That Give Busy Readers Review of Week's Happenings.

Summary of News Gathered by Correspondents Located in Every Quarter of the Globe.

Amoy, China.—A Japanese was killed here the other day by the accidental ignition of a high explosive concealed in his clothing. It is suspected the man had planned an assassination.

Madison, Wis.—Phil Allen, wrecker of the First National bank of Mineral Point, Wis., has been taken to the Federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. He is under sentence of ten years.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—Automobiles are to be barred in Yellowstone Park. Secretary Ballinger has issued such an order, it is said, because automobiles frighten horses being driven over steep and dangerous roads.

Dallas, Tex.—Allan Brooks, a negro, aged 58 years, has been arrested, charged with attacking a three year old daughter of J. J. Buvens, his employer. Brooks was taken to Fort Worth for safe keeping because threatened with violence.

Troy, N. Y.—Bewildered in a heavy snowstorm, Reuben Collier of Waterford wandered for two hours in a circle only a few hundred yards in diameter and finally fell exhausted on the tracks of a suburban electric line. He was hit by a car and instantly killed.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Slates and sponges have been eliminated from the schools of McKeesport by order of the Health Officer because of the prevalence of scarlet fever. Officials maintain that they are germ breeders, and are, in a great measure responsible for many cases of the disease in the city.

Philadelphia.—The Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company last week issued a general order reducing the hours of labor in all locomotive and car shops on its system to eight hours a day, effecting a reduction in expenses of about 15 per cent. Falling off in traffic is given as the cause.

Chicago.—Tetha Pearson, a fourteen year old Russian gypsy who, it is alleged, was stolen from her mother, Mrs. Tetha Pearson, in Boston two years ago, was found in the possession of Mrs. Annie Lucas, a Mexican gypsy, at Sixty-fifth and Loomis streets by detectives. Mrs. Lucas was arrested. The Lucases admit the girl is Mrs. Pearson's child, but claim they bought her for $100.

Kansas City.—Mrs. Mayme Morrison, a widow, 59 years old, who applied to the Juvenile court to find her a home, is not going to be an object of charity. Dan Cupid stepped in and provided her with a home. She is now Mrs. George Linn. Her husband is 50 years old and is able to provide a comfortable home. He is one of 75 men who proposed marriage when the woman's story was published.

Pawhuska, Okla.—Many herds of cattle in the pastures of the Osage country were saved from death by freezing during the recent blizzard by the action of their owners in tapping the natural gas pipe lines of that section and igniting the escaping gas. The comfort of the animals, however, was at the expense of citizens of those towns depending on natural gas for heating, the shortage of gas having caused much suffering.

Denver, Col.—A woman Mayor for Denver. That is the gossip following a banquet of prominent Denver women to which no men were admitted. The election is two years off, but it is whispered that the advisibility of having a woman candidate in the field—perhaps two of them—was not only discussed, but was advocated with enthusiasm. It is asserted that more women than men voted in the last municipal election in Denver.

New York.—A fire department report just made public here shows that in the last year 1251 of the men enrolled in New York's Fire Department reported sick at various times. Of this number 654 firemen were injured while on duty. There is also a large proportion of pneumonia cases, originating presumably from exposure at fires. Of the twenty-three deaths in the department nearly one-half of the men were killed on duty.

DIPLOMACY CLEARS WAY FOR FIRE CHIEF TO SEE FIGHT

But He Has Hard Time Explaining His Conduct to the Mayor.

Los Angeles.—Because he secured leave of absence for three days to go to San Francisco on "private business," then had himself deputized by the sheriff so he could travel north with a prisoner at the county's expense, and then made the Nelson-Wolgast prize fight at Richmond his objective, Fire Chief Lips was reprimanded by Mayor Alexander on his return. Lips, when pinned down at an executive meeting of the Fire Commission, admitted the fact, but pleaded that his spectatorship at the fight was incidental. The Mayor told him that a city official, on city pay, spending county funds merely to see two pugilists make mincemeat of each other, is not within the proprieties. While the Mayor did not say that no city official should go to a prize fight, he strongly asserted that none should ask leave of absence to do so.

The Mayor and Fire Chief have had two recent clashes, the first over a letter written by the latter to an Eastern publication, in which local methods were criticised.

Squirrels Thrive on Poison.

Pleasanton.—That the recent crusade against the squirrels was ineffectual is the statement made by the farmers of Livermore valley, who declare that the rodents are more numerous than ever. It is feared that there will be a great loss of grain owing to the inroads of the pests, and several meetings are planned for the purpose of discussing ways and means to rid the district of the destructive squirrels. It is claimed that much of the poison distributed by the Government had no effect on the rodents, and that not sufficient was given out by the agents of the health authorities.

Ragtime Music Banished.

New York.—Ragtime in the New York parks must go. Mayor Gaynor's new Park Commissioner has decided that the $80,000 appropriated each year for park music in Manhattan must hereafter buy music of higher quality than has been the rule under the Tammany administration. After a consultation with two well-known orchestra leaders, the Commissioner decided that the cost for classical music was no greater than for ragtime, and accordingly ruled that the classics must predominate.

Red Cross Instruction Car.

Pittsburg, Pa. — Lieutenant M. J. Shields of the United States medical corps, who is promoting "first aid corps" work in the Westmoreland district of the bituminous coal regions, has received word from the American Red Cross at Washington that it has been decided to extend this work throughout the country and that a special car is to be fitted up for instruction. It is intended to work in conjunction with the geological survey.

To Change Stamp on Manila Cigars.

Washington. — Secretary Dickinson has decided to recommend to the Philippine Government a change in the form of the stamp that is now placed upon cigars made in the islands to meet the objections of the domestic cigar manufacturers that the stamp is misleading. It has been contended that the stamp led consumers to believe that the quality and purity of the cigars were certified by the United States Government.

Veterans' Pensions Restored.

Washington.—The seventy-five veterans of the First battalion of Mountaineers, California Volunteers, who have been restored to the pension rolls, will receive back pay for all the time since they were stricken from the rolls. It is necessary that they should get into communication with the pension office at once.

Boy Killed on Way to His Father.

Toledo, O.—Anxiety to be with his father, Amos Roberts, in Pittsburg cost Harold Roberts, aged 13, his life. When accidentally killed by a railroad train he was on his way to his father, who had secured employment in Pittsburg and whom Mrs. Roberts intended to join soon.

"Millionaire Tramp" Killed.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Alexander Blackman, 50 years old, known as the "millionaire tramp," was killed by a train a few days ago. Blackman received monthly remittances from New York which would have enabled him to live well, but preferred the life of a tramp.

S. P. Station to Cost $6000.

Centerville.—The framework of the new $6,000 Southern Pacific station has been erected, and it will be ready for occupancy within a few weeks.

Gubernatorial Aspirants Line Up For Primary Fray

The new primary law under which party standard bearers will be chosen in August by the voters at large, is the cause of much activity on the part of those who would like to step into state offices next January. The candidates and the candidates' friends have their coats off and are in pursuit of the voter. Theodore A. Bell is working hard for the Democratic nomination that ex-Congressman Tom Geary also would like to have. Senator Sanford of Ukiah is in the running, too, and promises his fellow bourbons a lively race. On the Republican side the race is between Secretary of State Curry, Hiram A. Johnson, Alden Anderson, John L. McNab of Mendocino and Phil Stanton of Los Angeles. Curry is in the lead so far and promises to maintain his position. On the Republican side, Curry seems to be regarded as the candidate of "the people." He is not backed by "the interests," and from present indications will secure the votes necessary to give him the place at the head of the state ticket. Curry's friends are legion, his political record is clean, his administration of the office of Secretary of State is unequaled and his familiarity with the business of the state, his freedom from entangling machine alliances seem to make him the choice of the rank and file of his party.

"I have not sought and I will not seek the support of any organization. If I am elected governor, and I expect to be elected, it will be without a string of any kind. I will be free to give the people the kind of an administration I believe the people should have. I am bound by no promise. If I can not be nominated and elected that way I do not want the office."

That is what Charles F. Curry said to a Call representative about his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor. Curry believes that he will win at the primary polls. He believes that he will be elected governor in November. To say that Curry is confident would be conservative. He says his confidence is based on his belief that both the people and the direct primary law are sound.

There is another reason for Curry's confidence. He believes that from a tangled political situation his personal organization will emerge triumphant over both the machine and anti-machine organizations. He believes that both the machine and anti-machine candidates inevitably will be drawn into combinations with other candidates, which, in his estimation, means more water on the Curry wheel.

Curry was asked to explain his confidence in winning in a race in which he would be opposed by two capable men, one supported by the machine which has dominated California's politics for many years; the other by the Lincoln-Roosevelt league, which so nearly put the Herrin machine to rout in 1908.

"I expect to win because I have not the support of any organization; because the people have the direct primary law," said Curry. "I have not sought and I will not seek the support of any organization. I have always been for the direct primary law. It has given me the chance I could not secure without it. If I am elected governor, and I expect to be elected, it will be without a string of any kind. I will be free to give the people the kind of an administration I believe the people should have.

"My candidacy is based on my record as a public servant. I am bound by no promise. I have given my promise to no living man. If I am elected governor my appointments will be based on the qualifications of the appointees. They will be my appointments. If I can not be nominated and elected that way I do not want the office. If the people do not want that kind of a governor they had better look elsewhere.

"I know of no reason why any citizen of California who believes in good government should not vote for me for governor. I know no factions. I have good friends among the so-called organization men and I have equally good friends among the Lincoln-Roosevelt leaguers.

"My friends are making a good campaign for me. This is especially true of the wholesalers, manufacturers and commercial traveling men, who are giving me splendid support."

When asked if he intended to make an active personal campaign, Curry said: "The time will probably come when I will be obliged to give some personal attention to the compaign. I shall do as little of that kind of work as possible. The people elected me to the office of Secretary of State. I have not found it necessary so far to neglect my duties of my office to advance my political ambition. Representative Republicans throughout the state are making my fight. They are accomplishing most gratifying results in the matter of organization. My petition is being completed by my friends. I am content. I intend to adhere to the letter and the spirit of the direct primary law."

Curry's frank manner of stating his position is certainly winning him many friends. And when his record as secretary of state is mentioned, only words of commendation are heard. All admit that his training as secretary peculiarly fits him for the governorship. He is familiar with the work of every department of state; he knows where reforms can be instituted and economies practiced. He has conducted his office in a business-like manner and fathered laws that have greatly increased the revenues of the state without adding to the burdens of the taxpayers. These are the things, his friends say, that will rally to Curry's standard those voters who wish an administration conducted for the benefit of the people and free of corporation or machine influence.

The Lincoln-Roosevelt leaguers have inaugurated a strong campaign for Hiram A. Johnson. The directors of the league's campaign hope to perfect arrangements which will enable Johnson to speak in every county in the state. If Lee C. Gates of Los Angeles is the league's candidate for lieutenant-governor, and the wind seems to blow that way, the league will have a powerful oratorical team at the head of its ticket. Gates is one of the best orators in southern California. He will not be a stranger, to the men in politics at least, in any portion of the state. After the primaries, win or lose, Gates will be out for the Republican ticket.

If Gates is the candidate for lieutenant-governor, A. J. Wallace of Los Angeles will probably be sent in to make the race for Frank Flint's seat in the United States Senate. Wallace is an orator of no mean ability and is a floor fighter of exceptional ability. He has money and his business relations are such that he could afford to go to the Senate.

There is no disguising the fact that the candidacy of Curry and Johnson is not relished by the machine men. Some of them are frank enough to admit it. They believed that the league would be unable to get Johnson into the fight. They also believed that cross-firing by the friends of other candidates or tentative candidates had produced a situation that would result in a runout, regardless of who was chosen by the leaguers.

Johnson complicates the situation. The expected big runout can not be located. The defections from the league resulting from the disgruntled of Belshaw's friends are apparently confined to two counties. They involve no especial comfort for the machine men, since the defection has been to Curry rather than to the organization.

Alden Anderson has given it out cold that he will not seek a combination with a candidate for any other office. He has told his friends that he would run for the nomination for governor and that other candidates must attend to their own affairs, as he expected to be busy, or words to that general effect. When Anderson was in southern California it was suggested that he see Stanton and urge the speaker to get out of the gubernatorial race and into the fight for second place on the ticket. Anderson declined with expressions of his grateful appreciation of the friendship which prompted the suggestion.

Theodore A. Bell, prospective Democratic candidate for governor, practically launched his campaign in a spirited address he delivered at the twenty-sixth annual banquet of the Iroquois Club, given in San Francisco in honor of Washington's birthday.

The Napa statesman appealed for harmony, unity and absolute concord in the party, and expressed the belief that every indication presaged a Democratic victory in the coming campaign. He suggested to his auditors that they obliterate from their minds past defeats, saying that if this were done "we could all agree that the conditions in California today carry a certainty of Democratic victory in the election now approaching."

He rejoiced in the fact that the public press was reviewing the conferences of the party. He looked upon that as a good omen, as it indicated the feelings of the people who read the newspapers.

Thomas J. Geary of Santa Rosa, sometime congressman from the old first district and author of the Chinese exclusion act which bears his name, may do battle in the primary lists for the Democratic nomination for governor.

A German inventor has taken the comic supplement artist seriously and patented an umbrella which may be turned into a boat, with rudder, sail for the stick and seat to be placed across the ribs.

Though it is estimated that the rivers of the country remove only about an inch of land surface in each 760 years, the total is 783,000,000 tons of matter transported to tidewater each twelve months.

MISPLACED COMMA COSTS LOWEST BIDDER CONTRACT

Vallejo.—Because some clerk at Mare Island misplaced a comma in submitting the estimate of the local yard for painting work on the revenue cutter Bear, the job has been lost to the Mare Island station. Foreman Painter Wentworth figured the job at $1,000, but when the bid was opened in Washington it was found that a comma had been placed after the first cipher, making the bid appear to read $10,000.

Wentworth says the mistake was not his, while the officials of the yard maintain that when they received the estimate the punctuation mark was after the first cipher. As a result of the error in pointing the estimate, the contract went to a private firm in Oakland.

State Fails to Get Tax.

Sacramento.—A decision made by Judge Post prevents the State Controller from enforcing the collection of about $2000 more inheritance tax from the estate of the late Captain Frank Ruhstaller, the wealthy brewer. Inheritance Tax Deputy Robert Waring of the Controller's office instituted action to have the estate reappraised, because he found that it was undervalued $110,000 by the Probate Court appraisers. He considered the value to be $625,000. This difference would give the state $2000 more in the form of inheritance taxes. District Attorney Wachhorst had already agreed to the tax figure, and the court failed to find sufficient cause to vacate the former order.

Milk Trust Indicted.

New York.—The so-called "milk trust" has been indicted in New York. After a long grand jury investigation a blanket indictment was handed down in the criminal branch of the Supreme Court naming eight of seventeen directors of the Consolidated Milk Exchange, a New Jersey corporation and charging that they met June 29, 1909, in New York and "conspired together and with others to fix the wholesale price of milk and did fix it at $1.41 for a forty quart can of milk." One year in prison and a fine of not more than $5,000 or both is the penalty for each offense.

Competition in Tin Cans.

Pittsburg.—The signing of a contract for 1,000,000 boxes of tin plate to be delivered over a period covering 10 years by the Continental Tin Can company brought out the story that this tin can making firm, which is one of the biggest competitors of the American Can company, or the can trust, has decided to go after the Pacific Coast canning trade, which for years has apparently been at the mercy of the trust. The plate is to be delivered at the rate of 100,000 boxes per year and it is understood that most of the cans are to be shipped to the Pacific Coast.

Another Scientific Youth.

Chicago.—Chicago now has a scientific youngster who rivals the 11-year-old mathematician of Harvard. He is Fenton B. Turck, Jr., 7 years old, the son of Dr. Fenton B. Turck. The lad lectured on some of his experiments in bacteriology at a meeting of microscope enthusiasts at the Chicago Academy of Sciences. The boy demonstrated his talk with slides of his own making, showing bacilli which he had separated and mounted himself.

Tag Day for Charities.

San Francisco.—A monster tag day for the benefit of the Doctors' Daughters' children's hospital and the Salvation Army is planned for March 10. It is the expectation of the organizations that a large showing will be made, and that this tag day will prove a record breaker.

"Near Beer" is Taxed.

Columbus, O.—The Supreme Court in a case brought up from Gurnsey county, handed down a decision that all saloonists in "dry" counties who are selling "near beer" must pay the Aiken liquor tax of $1,000 a year. About $1,000,000 is involved throughout the State.

Democrats Barred From Primaries.

Des Moines, Ia.—Iowa Democrats will be asked to remain away from the Republican primaries this spirng and devote their undivided attention to the election of candidates in their own party. Democrats assert that Governor Cummins was elected in 1906 by Democratic votes.

NEWS OF WEEK FROM ALL THE COAST STATES

Occurrences Along the Pacific Slope Presented in Compendious Array.

Passing Events Among Your Neighbors Briefly Told in Short, Newsy Paragraphs.

Oakland.—The compilers of the new city directory estimate that Oakland now has a population of about 300,000.

Colusa.—The water carnival committee has selected May 28 as the date for this year's celebration. A tenative program has been arranged.

Los Angeles.—John Hanuscheck, aged 18, of Colgrove, pleaded guilty of having attempted to murder his mother, Mrs. Ida Hanuscheck, by putting formaldehyde into her coffee because she would not give him money.

San Francsico.—After eight months' service on the Pacific coast of Nicaragua the United States gunboat Vicksburg arrived here. The commander reported that little revolutionary violence was apparant on the Pacific slope of the small republic.

Los Angeles.—Thomas Edwin Heany, alias Lieutenant Harry C. King, alias Major George C. Anderson, pleaded guilty in the United States district court to having impersonated an army officer, and was sentenced to serve eight months in the county jail.

Portland.—Roses given by the various foreign nations having representatives in Portland were planted in the city park last week under the auspices of the Portland rose festival association. The rose planting ceremony is an annual event in Portland and is done by the school children.

Spokane, Wash.—Fire starting from a defective chimney in a butcher shop at Priest River, Idaho, swept away over a dozen business blocks and threatened to raze the town. After four hours' fighting the flames in zero weather the bucket brigade of 200 men succeeded in saving part of the town.

Martinez.—While walking toward the depot where he was to take a train to San Francisco, from where he intended to depart for a visit to his family in Greece, Peter Vavas, for the past several years a member of a section gang for the Southern Pacific, was struck by train 84 and instantly killed.

San Jose.—A rare wild flower which professor R. D. Wood, botanist at the State Normal school, says is a flora of the glacial period, has been found in the vicinity of Mount Hamilton and will be one of the chief features of a comprehensive wild flower exhibit which is to be made in connection with the rose carnival here in May.

Tuscon, Ariz.—An agent of the Interior Department is now engaged in alloting lands to the Papago Indians, located outside the Indian reservation. The region from which allotments will be made is located 60 miles southwest of Tucson. One hundred and sixty acres of grazing land or eighty acres of agricultural land is allotted to each Indian. Over 4,000 Papagos will exercise their allotment right.

San Diego.—From Warner's Hot Springs, about seventy miles northeast of this city, comes the report that a meteor of extraordinary size and brilliancy was seen there a few days ago. It was traveling from west to east. Passing the springs its course led into the mountains, where it exploded with a deafening report and sent up a great cloud of dust. The phenomenon was witnessed by several guests at the hotel.

Portland, Ore.—Stockmen from Eastern Oregon are worrying over the conditions on the ranges and fear a heavy loss of cattle and sheep when the figures are obtained. The winter has been unusually severe and haystacks that have been piling up for five or six years past are now almost depleted. Should the cold weather continue it would interfere with the growth of early grass, and there would be nothing to feed the stock with in the meantime.

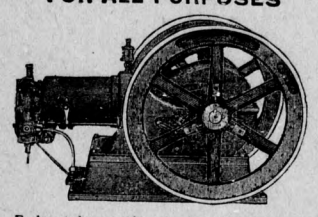

Reno, Nev.—Suit has been filed in the District Court at Carson to test the direct primary law passed in this State by the last Legislature. The action was brought by Henry Riter, a wealthy brewer of this city, against Secretary of the State W. G. Douglass. It is alleged in the complaint, which is very lengthy, that the law is unconstitutional on many grounds, chief among which are that it takes from the qualified electors the right to run for any office, and that it prevents the formation of new political parties in the State.

A Personal Examination.

Prof. D'Arcy Thompson, the expert sent some years ago by England to investigate the seal question, was a gentleman of tact and courtesy, a fact the following anecdote illustrates. While conducting examinations at an English university he learned that one of the students to be examined, a young woman who was a candidate for a degree, was so timid and nervous that it was likely she would not do herself justice in the examination, and he was asked to make allowance for this.

Professor Thompson asked to be presented to her before the hour for the examinations, and after meeting her, suggested that as they had a few moments at their disposal, he would be pleased to have her show him the museum.

She gladly agreed, and they spent a delightful half-hour; but when the dreaded time approached, the nervousness of the young woman became apparent.

Finally she summoned courage to ask when the ordeal would take place. The conclusion of the story is obvious—Professor Thompson told her the dreaded hour was over.

While they sauntered about the museum he had put her through a rigid examination. She had answered his questions brilliantly, and she received her degree.

This illustrates the truth that personal examinations are the best test of knowledge.

Not a Bird to Imitate.

Much has been said of the modesty and reticence of the Wright brothers of aeroplane fame. That they are able to give a clever reason for their reserve is indicated by this story, told by Maximilian Foster in Outing:

"You see," said the financial agent of the two Dayton sky-fliers, the Wrights are what you might call too shy and too modest. I said so once to Wilbur, and do you know what he answered?"

Mr. Flint paused long enough to chuckle.

"Wilbur said to me, 'Mr. Flint, the best talker and the worst flier among the birds is the parrot.'"

Which is one good reason, perhaps, why the world at large knows so little about the Wright flying-machine.

Waiting at the Church in 1925.

Pausing at the entrance to the church wherein the wedding ceremony is being performed, we note an airship tugging at its moorings, and one side, concealed in the shrubbery, a huge mortar or siege gun. About this party are grouped a merry party of young folk, who are laughing gayly and are loading the weapon to the muzzle with old shoes and rice.

"What are you doing?" we inquired, casually.

"They're going away in their airship on their honeymoon trip," explains one of the joyous party. "Just when they clear the steeple of the church we are going to let them have the contents of this gun."—Chicago Post.

"Squatted" in Empty Houses.

A woman who recently applied to the Lambeth guardians for relief said that for the last three months she and her five children had lived rent free by "squatting" in the rooms of empty houses. In Lambeth there are many such houses which have reverted to the duchy of Cornwall, and people are permitted to occupy the places until the premises are demolished.—London News.

Love.

It is hard to preserve equanimity and greatness on that debatable ground between love and esteem. There is nothing so stable and unfluctuating as love. The waves beat steadfast on its shore forever, and its tide has no ebb. It is a resource in all extremities and a refuge even from itself. And yet love will not be leaned on.—H. D. Thoreau in Atlantic.

No Trouble Otherwise.

Professor (of English literature)—At times you find it difficult, I dare say, to comprehend the involved style of Mr. James.

Desperate Coughs

Sleeping with Feet Raised.

Among the pernicious things that we have all been doing without knowing it is sleeping with a pillow under our heads. No longer if we value health and happiness may we bury our weary heads in these soft and soothing depths. It is the feet that want elevation, not the head, says a German doctor, and a pillow isn't big enough to raise them to the required height. The doctor has the foot end of his bed elevated about eight inches and says that in this position his circulation is better and that his brain and nerves have profited thereby.

A Mother's Love

wisely directed, will cause her to give to her little ones only the most wholesome and beneficial remedies and only when actually needed, and the well-informed mother uses only the pleasant and gentle laxative remedy—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—when a laxative is required, as it is wholly free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

Premature Age Not Normal.

It is not a crime to grow old if you do so naturally and gracefully. In fact, it is most creditable and highly honorable.

However, it is a crime to grow old beyond your years. To do so you must abuse and mistreat yourself. Nature never intended that any one should grow old prematurely, but to mature and ripen normally, and retain the natural senses and tastes until the machine finally runs down and stops.

Infirmity is never sent upon any one, but every one who ages prematurely, or grows infirm must take the blame to himself. Infirmity, which is physical weakness, is invited, encouraged and maintained, and it comes not except in answer to distinct and oft-repeated invitations.

It is true that with centuries of ill-breeding, with selfish culture and wrong living, it is but natural that there should be many physical and moral defectives, but the tendency is so strong toward the normal that it does not take long to get back to the right way.

This tendency to the normal is well marked and quite noticeable in all the kingdoms of nature. The daisy is beaten down by the storm, but how quickly it recovers! A stalk of corn is bent and hindered by a clod, but when the hindrance is removed it soon straightens up. The twig may be bent and finally grow into unnatural form, but its branches point upright and their fruit is good.—Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

The Folly of the Mean.

John D. Rockefeller never wearies of impressing on the young the folly of mean and parsimonious habits. In one of his most recent interviews he said:

"These miserly people reap nothing but discomfort from their false economies. Take, for example, the case of Mrs. Silas Long of Sussex.

"'Martha,' said old Silas one fall day, 'I think I'll go and get a few apples from the orchard.'

"He looked at her timidly. She said:

"'Well, be careful, now, Si, only to pick the bad ones.'

"'Suppose there ain't no bad ones, Martha?'

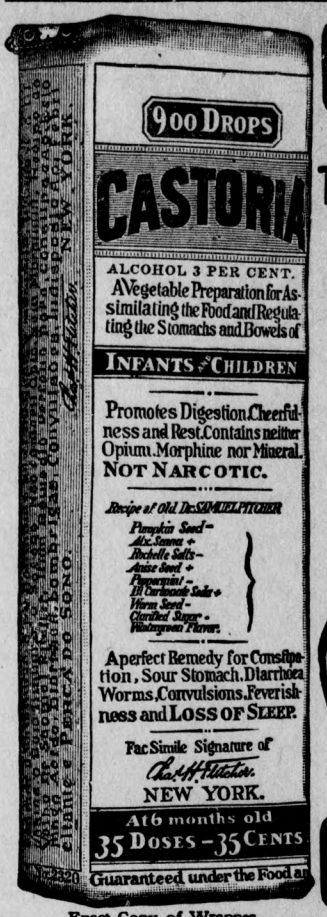

"'Then ye'll have to wait till some goes bad, of course,' the old lady snapped. 'We can't afford to eat good, sound fruit wuth 3 cents a bushel.'"

Not Very Cool.

She—My dear, baseball is a very cool game for the spectators, isn't it?

He—On the contrary, it is an unusually heated one.

She—But the papers speak of the thousands of fans—aren't they electric ones?—Baltimore American.

Mr. Hepworth had been married five times, "and happily every time," as he often said. His first marriage had occurred when he was nineteen and his last at the age of seventy. His last wife was a sensible woman, some years his junior, who survived him, when he died, at the age of seventy-nine.

During his last illness Mr. Hepworth made various plans for his wife's remaining years, and talked them over with her in a matter of fact way.

"You'll have plenty of money to travel, Ellen," he said one day, "and you like it, which I never did. Why don't you take a trip down into Connecticut? There are good folks there, and you'd enjoy yourself. I never went."

"How do you know about the folks, when you've never been there?" inquired Mrs. Hepworth, mildly.

"Stands to reason," said her husband. "The heft o' my wives come from Connecticut—three of 'em, all fine women. If business hadn't kep' me in Massachusetts, Ellen, I don't doubt my last choice would've been made down there, though I haven't got a single regret, mind you!"—Youth's Companion.

FIFTEENTH YEAR — No. 34

The next President may be elected on the vegetarian ticket.—Kansas City Times.

Perhaps the cost of high living has something to do with the high cost of living.—Wall Street Journal.

The astronomers are becoming quite worried for fear that their stories of the great canals on the planet of Mars will prove a delusion. Think of the enjoyment they have had as their active imaginations have created stories of the ingenious people and their vegetable gardens, etc.!

Considerable consternation not unmixed with vexation was occasioned at Tokio when the reports reached there of Ex-Secretary Shaw's recent speech in which he stated that Japan was looking for trouble with the United States. We find it difficult to believe that Japan is building a step-ladder with which to look for a chip on Uncle Sam's shoulder.

In view of the campaign against the spread of tuberculosis, one of the most commendable actions is the move of the local Methodist church to provide an individual communion service. Since it is known that the public drinking cup is one of the worst means of spreading the disease it is not to be wondered at when there is a small congregation present on communion Sunday in churches where the old system is still in use.

THANKS, BROTHER EDITORS.

As so many of our neighboring papers published the Old Settlers' Day program sent them by the publicity committee, the people of Campbell hereby wish to express their thanks and appreciation. We trust that you who came had a profitable time and next year will come again and bring your friends.

VOTING EARLY AND OFTEN

Germany and Great Britain still hold to a system of voting which would provoke a revolution if put into operation here. The principle of "one man, one vote" is a part of our political heritage. But the countries named have thousands of "plural voters," men who, because they own property in various places, or for other reasons connected with the possession of property, may vote in two, three, or more places at the same election. The recent British election was influenced in many cases by these plural voters. As the voting was done on different days they had plenty of chance to go from district to district. In a number of instances they were carried about in motor cars, combining the exercise of the franchise with all the joys of an automobile holiday. —Epworth Herald, Chicago.

ADVOCATE OF LOCAL OPTION.

Lincoln, Neb.—William Jennings Bryan has come out flat-footed for county option in Nebraska. He takes steps in advance of this and declares democracy must divorce itself from the liquor interests because an alliance with the saloon can generally be regarded as an alliance with vice. The saloon, he says, is constantly used to debauch politics and to prevent the intelligent consideration of public questions. The liquor interests, he declares, made themselves odious at the last session of the Nebraska Legislature by preventing the submission of the initiative and referendum. Bryan declares the right of the Government to regulate the sale of liquor cannot be denied, and the right to make the county the unit of regulation is just as plain. The people who pay the taxes, he contends, should have a voice in determining the system to be employed for regulation of the sale of liquors.

PUBLIC DEFENDER.

It has always seemed unfair that the government of a State or community should be represented in court by an attorney whose every effort was to get judgment against an accused person—whether innocent or guilty,—when that one often happened to be without influence or money with which to secure the needed defence. How often does it happen that a governor of a State finds it necessary to issue pardon to a man after he has passed years behind prison walls for crimes he was entirely innocent of; some circumstance having brought out the real truths of the case involved. The city of Cleveland, Ohio, has taken an advance step along this line. It has had for some time a Legal Aid Society, which has proven of great service in civil suits involving people of small means. In the police courts of that city the city solicitor, who is public prosecutor, constitutes himself the public defender, also. It is his duty to see that the prisoner under charges has his side of the case presented fully, ably, and without prejudice. The solicitor does not try to make a record for filling the jail. The prisoner thus has a helper who is eager, not to convict or acquit, but to get at the truth. This is something new in police court practice, and is certainly a very hopeful sign.

IMPLEMENTS
FOR FARM AND GARDEN

Not only a complete line of everything needed about the farm and garden—but a complete line of the BEST KIND. A farmer doesn't like to work with poor implements any more than a carpenter likes to work with poor tools. We've selected the various makes of implements with special regard to their serviceability, and we stand behind every piece that we sell.

They're all made of the very best materials, built by the best known factories in the world, and will be in good working condition when many inferior implements are consigned to the scrap-heap.

If you can't come to the store in person, send your order by mail. We'll give it careful attention.

SEEDS
Flower and vegetable seeds of all varieties. Fresh, true to name, full of vitality and life, and sure to grow. Don't waste your time with stale or inferior seed—plant the right kind — Farmer's Union kind.
